Rodney Jagelman

Rodney has 25 years experience as a consulting actuary. Prior to joining Law Debenture he was a Director and Actuary at Gissings, a City based firm of employee benefit consultants. His experience there included the role of scheme actuary to a wide variety of pension schemes from the very large to quite small. In addition, he also headed the actuarial practice and the investment department, and most recently took responsibility for trustee training. He represented the firm on the management committee of its international affiliation, ASINTA, and on the Council of the Society of Pension Consultants. Prior to joining Gissings, Rodney was a partner at Bacon & Woodrow.

Rodney's experience at Law Debenture covers a wide range of schemes - some small, others large, mainly DB but some DC. He has considerable experience as chair and of serving on a variety of trustee committees including investment committees.

Outside the office, Rodney has served on a wide range of professional and other committees and is a past chairman of NAPF City and Eastern Group. He is currently an elected member of the Committee of the Independent Pension Trustee Group sponsored by PMI.
